

scientific research and developments at international conferences and seminars. Introduction of future specialists to world knowledge and achievements in a particular field of activity will let them develop professional competencies and to be competitive on a modern mobile world market.

Knowledge of a foreign language for a future specialist enables negotiating with partners from different countries in order to achieve strategic goals of the company, in which the young man works. Besides working moments, a specialist after communicating with foreigners can find out social and cultural aspects of the country-partner, which «optimizes the achievement of general educational and educational goals, increasing the level of general culture of a future specialist» [2]. This also has a positive effect on formation communication skills of future specialists.

In conclusion, it should be said that in modern conditions are required qualified specialists, which are able to easily adapt to different changes, which are happening in the world, and which are able to understand quickly, how new equipment functions. Company executives are looking for responsible, mobile, highly erudite specialists, which fluent in their profession and foreign language at a high level, as «the real information world is inconceivable without specialists, who speak foreign languages, who can quickly extract information from foreign sources without an interpreter, present it in their native language and use it in scientific work» [3]. Therefore, knowledge of a foreign language and ability to apply this knowledge is extremely important for future specialists to be competitive on a modern world market.

Литература

1. Davudov, A. D. Knowledge of a foreign language is a key to professional success / A. D. Davudov // Vestnik SPI. – 2020. – №3 (35). – P. 61 – 71.
2. Aisner, L. Yu Foreign language role in formation of the future specialist professional competence / L. Yu. Aisner // Vestnik KrasGAU. – 2012. – №3. – P. 201 – 203.
3. Fufurina, T. A. Studying a foreign language for professional purposes as a success of the future career of students of technical universities / T. A. Fufurina // Science, Technology and Education. – 2015. – №2 (8). – P. 98 – 103.

ENGLISH IN THE PROFESSION OF ECONOMIST

Севенюк Е.В.

Научный руководитель: преподаватель Новикова Е.А.
Белорусский национальный технический университет

In the modern world, most financial corporations are located in English-speaking countries, such as the UK, USA, Canada and etc. The headquarters and head offices of international companies and banks are located in these places. Most large exchanges and trading platforms where securities, metals, energy resources and other assets are sold or purchased also operate in a foreign language. Consequently, English is an important part of the global economy. Most of the financial plan documents are maintained in English, since it is the most common language. Based on this, specialists in the field of economics need to know English at a high level in order to be able to stay in the current information flow.

English in schools, colleges, universities is an important lesson as this language is spoken by almost all international business companies. In order to become a good specialist in the field of economics, it is important not only to be a professional in your field, but also to know business English. English is the language of international business and economics.

In order to receive enough information and develop with the times, you need to constantly improve your skills and capabilities. Heads of financial companies and banks take part in seminars, conferences and negotiations. Often such events are held at the international level. This indicates the need to know English as it gives an advantage in such situations and allows one to obtain and use decent information. In addition, now in the context of the globalization of the economy and the integration of peoples, it is important to understand each other and freely communicate with citizens of other countries. In our country, business English is an indicator of a specialist's professionalism. So you need to know English not only to understand global economic politics, but also to get the maximum benefit from business meetings and negotiations.

To summarize, we can say that English is the international language of business communication. And only by understanding this language can you achieve high results in your career as an economist.

Learning a language is a complex process and takes a lot of time. But knowing English is a good start for a successful economist.

Литература

1. Averina S.A., Bogdanova E.S., Mukhoryanova O.A. THE ROLE OF BUSINESS ENGLISH IN MODERN ECONOMIC CONDITIONS // Economy and Society. 2018. No. 12 (55).

2. Sokur E.A. Knowledge of the English language is the basis for the successful development of a professional in the financial and banking sector // Science and modernity. 2014. No. 31.